

Possible Questions at Confirmation Hearing

(The following questions may be raised as a result of the Second Hoover Commission Task Force Report on Intelligence, which touched on these subjects.)

1. Does the DCI intend to establish an executive officer or chief of staff to relieve himself of some of his burdensome duties?
2. Is CIA too much in the public eye?
3. Should greater use be made of retired military personnel?
4. Is there a periodic security review of employees?
5. What should be the level of salary for the DCI and DDCI?

(The following are questions which are based upon previous hearings and the questions generally asked about CIA.)

1. Why does CIA have so many people in Washington (Headquarters)?
2. Should CIA have responsibility for Cuba-type operation?
3. Are there any plans for reorganization of CIA?
4. What are Mr. McCone's views on a Joint Congressional Committee for Intelligence Activities to serve as a watch-dog over CIA?
5. Is it planned to expand the size of the Agency or will it be significantly reduced in size?
6. Since all Agency people will not fit into the new building at Langley, what are the plans if any for a supplemental building?
7. Is the proposed level of spending for the Agency adequate and are any significant increases or decreases contemplated?
8. In other countries responsibility for collection of intelligence is divorced from responsibility for covert political and paramilitary activities. Should these two functions be divorced in the U. S. scheme?

9. Are there any legislative proposals to strengthen the personnel structure and the career concept?
10. What legislation is desirable in the security field with respect to leaks of information or otherwise?
11. Should the DCI make speeches to private groups either public or off the record.
12. Does the DCI need any further statutory authority to enable him to do his job more effectively.
13. Does the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board fulfill its purpose.
14. The present law allows two civilians to fulfill the top two jobs in CIA, but does not allow more than one military officer in these two jobs. Is this satisfactory?
15. Does the present system of estimates tend to water down the product?
16. Does CIA play too much of a role in policy formulation?
17. Are the covert projects of CIA sufficiently coordinated with other agencies particularly the Department of State and the Department of Defense?
18. Has CIA ever been penetrated by Communist agents?
19. Does CIA devote an adequate proportion of its effort to foreign intelligence activities?
20. Is it appropriate for the CIA to engage in such projects as that of the U-2 which would seem more the function of the Air Force?
